STRATEGIC PLANNING COMMITTEE

Committee Members

NORTHWEST TECH

MESSAGE FROM
THE PRESIDENT

Ben Schears

Dear Stakeholders:

Thank you for taking some time to read through our Strategic Plan for the 2018-2021 academic years. We hope you find it a useful tool in understanding the mission of Northwest Tech and the work we are called to do. Within these pages you will find the goals and initiatives upon which we have built our strategic plan, each of which represent key areas of focus for the development of our college.

Through the work of our Strategic Planning Committee this year we have established eight new pillars upon which our strategic initiatives have been built. The makeup of the committee is a solid reflection of our employees and includes members of our faculty, staff, and administration. Through our collective efforts, we have launched several new initiatives “moved the needle” in numerous areas of the college, and determined which projects needed to carry on to future years of planning.

One of the greatest changes to this plan, was to begin the conversation about moving beyond year-to-year planning and to begin building a strategic plan that moves into a multi-year outlook. You will see these changes reflected in this and future strategic plans due to the groundwork laid out this year.

I would be remiss if I did not thank all of the employees, students, and community members who contributed their time, talents and energy into helping us achieve progress and evaluate each of our strategic priorities for future consideration. Together, we’re moving the institution forward!

Pillar 1: Enrollment Growth and Sustainability

Description

The growth and sustainability of enrollment is critical for the long-term success of Northwest Tech. Being a small rural college has its inherent recruitment challenges, but strong technical program selection, broad-based recruitment activities, and targeted marketing can make a significant difference in the ability to grow and sustain enrollment. Regular analysis of labor market trends must be observed with focus placed on potential emerging technical programs. The athletic programs play a pivotal role in the makeup of the student body, both in quantity and also in maintaining a diverse campus population. Additional pathways and programs connecting the college to area high schools will help to create a pipeline for recruitment as well as opportunities for earning dual credits.

Having robust co-curricular activities for our students is one facet in the plan to improve student engagement and retention. Pillar 5: Maintain Fiscal Health

Description

Kansas technical colleges have significant challenges in the way funding is distributed through the state funding model. As such, we must be ever aware of the need to wisely manage fiscal resources and invest limited dollars into areas where we can anticipate sustainable growth. Establishing purchasing policies, growing sponsorships, and pursuing grant writing opportunities can provide critical upgrades in technology and relieve stress on the annual budget. It will be increasingly important, without local tax revenue, to be creative in our approach to grow funding streams while maintaining existing fiscal controls.

Pillar 6: Improve Facilities & Network

Description

One of the largest expenses of any institution lies within the upgrades and upkeep of the campus facilities and network infrastructure. Students have an expectation of educating in spaces that are safe, clean, and not dated. As facilities age, so does the mechanical infrastructure needed to operate them. Ongoing efforts need to be maintained to optimize and evaluate technical facilities to meet the needs of the program. Efforts must continue to update HVAC, electrical, and plumbing systems in existing facilities. Regarding network usage, as students and employees continue to bring more electronic devices that connect to the network, additional bandwidth and equipment will be necessary to keep up with demand. Having quality facilities and a strong network continue to be vital to the student experience while they are at Northwest Tech.

Pillar 7: Developing Employees

Description

Employees are our greatest asset in the education of our students. Recruiting technical faculty who have significant industry experience, and general education faculty with strong content knowledge, continues to be a significant factor in the selection of new teachers. Finding strong candidates for any position continues to be a challenge in a rural area of the state and we must continue to cast a wider net to attract employees. Once employees are hired, we must train and evaluate to ensure they have the resources to successfully work in higher education. This will need to include providing training to new hires to learn expectations, adapt to the culture of the college, and a pathway for continuing education. Continuing to offer a robust benefits plan, with a competitive salary, can be effective in recruiting and retaining quality employees.

Description

Northwest Tech does not reside on an island, and knowing such, we must continue to strengthen relationships with individuals, companies, alumni, legislators and more who are willing to work alongside of us to ensure the sustainability of the college. We educate students with the goal of sending them into the workforce and it is only sensible to strengthen our ties with business and industry to further develop our programs. These same business and industry connections, coupled with increased efforts to engage with alumni, pose an incredible potential benefit to the future of Northwest Tech. Developing new articulation agreements with colleges and universities with technical pathways will provide additional opportunities for our students to pursue their educational goals.
